

South County Art Association Instructor

Lynne Moulton

Lynne Moulton is a mostly self-taught woodworker who makes colorful wood mosaic wall art in the basement workshop of her East Greenwich home. Most recently she has begun exploring paper collage with recycled household cardboard and the centuries old craft of paper quilling. All her work is inspired by landscapes, shapes in nature, mandalas, and occasionally more abstract themes that explore some combination of color, pattern, and texture. Lynne has participated in juried art shows in New Jersey and Rhode Island and is a proud member of the Board of South County Art Association, currently serving as Board President.
